Debt Recovery

Many companies offer simple debt collection services but sometimes it is not that straight forward.

Disputes can arise over goods or services supplied, contract terms or payment arrangements.

If a dispute arises you need lawyers who have the experience to advise you how best to deal with the dispute without “throwing good money after bad” but also without just walking away from an unpaid invoice.

We have that expertise and experience, Martyn Brown has been handling commercial disputes for over 20 years and can help you resolve the dispute by either litigation or negotiation.

Over the years we have acted for lawyers, builders, architects, accountants, manufacturers and many other businesses in dispute with their clients and customers and in disputes with suppliers and other businesses.

We will always offer sensible and constructive advice on dealing with your commercial litigation disputes.
